

“LGBTQ people now eligible for domestic violence protections in all 50 states”

This is really good news. I used to live in North Carolina for a bit. Beautiful state and really nice people!

“North Carolina was the last remaining state in the country to bar same-sex couples from domestic violence protections.”

“LGBTQ North Carolinians in unmarried, dating relationships must have the same access to domestic violence protections as people in heterosexual relationships, according to a recent North Carolina Court of Appeals ruling.”

Source: LGBTQ people now eligible for domestic violence protections in all 50 states (nbcnews.com)

Patrick

www.seeme-thinkofme.com

#seeme-thinkofme

#seeme

#thinkofme